November 2014

As the seasons shift and the leaves fall silently from the trees, I am reminded that this is the time of year for giving thanks. At the moment I am giving thanks for the mission and ministry of South Church. Let me tell you why. One morning this past week I arrived as the pantry was in full operation. Mary Wheat was supervising our volunteer staff made up of a wide range of ages. Some were members of South, others members elsewhere, and some, well I don't know if they attend church. But they were all engaged meeting the needs of our neighbors—with warmth and care. I then went upstairs to lead a group exploring the spiritual life. A dozen of us from five different congregations are studying a book by Richard Rohr, a Benedictine monk, learning from each other how to grow in the love of God. At noon I joined the Men's Forum as twenty retired guys from a variety of backgrounds listened to Bruce Collingwood speak about the energy saving efforts of our city. As Director of Public Works, Bruce is helping Pittsfield be in the forefront of solar and recycled waste energy in Massachusetts. Later in the afternoon I spoke with Sr. Kathryn Flanagan as St. Joe's Kitchen got under way. As we talked, our cooks and volunteer staff, guided by John Moore, made everything ready to serve eighty adults and children a delicious, hot meal. Sr. Kathryn and I reflected once again on the steady, dynamic energy of this ecumenical ministry we share together. Some of us have been part of St. Joe's for over twenty years. Others have just begun. But we all share a deep bond of connection with one another and our guests. Later in the evening I sat with the Diaconate as we had our own dynamic time planning worship and discussing how to meet the spiritual needs of this congregation. It was a busy day—actually I conflated a couple of days to help make a point.

Do you see the pattern? I see it every week. South Church is a center of ministry that is a catalyst for many good things going on in our community and our individual lives. We are not a large congregation but we are an effective and active congregation—because many others join with us. We are the hosts. We provide the space. We help provide leadership. Others help provide the energy that makes so much abundance happen. Along the way we all discover deepening bonds of connection, hope, and faithfulness. This is a model of church for the 21st century that South is living into. It is an exciting and energizing project. In Genesis 12 God tells Abraham and Sarah that “all people on earth will be blessed through you.” South Church partakes in that promise by being a blessing to many in our community.

During November we will have a series of stewardship reflections that will respond to this theme: “Blest to Be a Blessing”. When you read the lectionary section of this Epistle you will see the lineup of who will be speaking. It will be a good month of worship as we give thanks for all we have received, celebrate the gifts we share, hear from faithful voices, and are challenged to deepen our own commitments to this work of faith. As part of this we will receive pledge cards and envelopes as a way to make our promises to support the mission and ministry of this remarkable congregation in the upcoming year. Give generously for all we share in the self-giving love of Christ.

that we should be called children of God."

CHURCH SCHOOL NEWS

The children have been busy following the story of Moses. We acted out the striking of the rock which provided water for the freed Israelites. The lessons focusing on "God is with us even during difficult times" end this month with Deuteronomy 34:1-2, which celebrates the life of this great leader. After presenting the Ten Commandments and viewing the Promised Land, Moses is at peace. The story's theme is "Through living in harmony with God and our neighbors as the great commandment requires, we partner with God to meet the needs of a hurting world."

Sharing, kindness and caring were well understood by the children.

On Sunday October 5th, our youth joined with 3 other downtown churches on a trip to Ramblewild, an outdoor adventure park in Lanesborough. The event was well attended and everyone received a full physical workout! The group will continue to meet on the first and third Sundays of the month. Any questions please contact me at the church. More fun to come!

Finally, on Sunday October 14th, 14 members from South Church, adults and children, participated in the annual Crop Walk to fight world hunger. Many members from downtown churches also took part. It was a rewarding event and a nice time of fellowship with all who attended. Afterward, First Church hosted a get-together for cider and snacks! Tallies are still coming in, so I will update the total raised at a later date. About 45 people attended the walk as a whole!

Blessings until next month.

THE FOOD PANTRY

has continued to be very busy with hungry people coming in for food and to sign up for turkeys.

This week we had 479 families. Needless to say we went through all of our food except for some squash. Any help you could give with food donations would be wonderful, especially baby food and peanut butter.

November is turkey month so we are asking for a turkey or a donation towards one, or the donation of a pie.

Thank you, Mary Wheat

WANTED VOLUNTEERS

As John Moore retires from 25 years of heading up the St. Joe's Kitchen at South Church Wednesday Meals, we are reaching out to faith communities for individuals to join our ecumenical team. Those of us who serve find it rewarding to put our hands to work in direct service to the needy in our community. For additional information, call South Congregational Church at 413-442-7357.

Administrator: A computer-capable person responsible for maintaining cook/volunteer scheduling, obtaining supplies, and recording and reporting the meals and number of guests served. Does not require presence on Wednesday. 3-5 hours per month on your own time.

Maitre D': Wednesdays, 3 - 6 pm: Two or three people to manage guest relations for the Wednesday afternoon meal on a rotating basis. Primary responsibility is to provide a welcoming, comfortable, and safe atmosphere for guests from opening doors at 3:30 until closing, including supporting the volunteers serving the 5 pm meal. Maitre D' should be ready to handle issues that infrequently arise, such as guest illness or difficult behavior.

Additional cooks: People with food handling skills to work with current cooks to learn our procedures and be available as lead cooks when needed. Lead cooks plan menus and obtain food, in addition to the actual meal preparation in the kitchen on Wednesdays.

Additional Wednesday volunteers: Servers, 4:30 - 5:30; clean-up crews and back-up dishwashers, 5-6.

Additional Food Pantry Volunteers are also wanted for Tuesday noon food unloading, food pick-ups on various days, and Wednesday and Thursday morning distributions. Each week the South Church Food Pantry provides grocery bags for over 450 needy families.

Stop by or contact Mary Wheat at 442-3706 for more information.

*There are two kinds of gratitude, the sudden kind we feel
for what we take,
the larger kind we feel for what we give.*

MAY MATTOON

I have to say the table settings for May Mattoon meeting on October 7th set the mood for our lunch and business meeting. The festive appearance of the bright oranges, deep reds, the pumpkins and floral arrangements made you smile, lifted your spirits with the brightness and the fun of it all.

After we consumed our sandwiches, followed by a delicious apple and cranberry crumble cake with whipped cream, provided by hostesses Audra Kinner, Nancy deForest and Bing Honig, a short business meeting was held.

It was decided to consider delaying the chocolatier party until spring because this time of year is always so busy. The family of Art Bell was very pleased with the memorial service and luncheon on September 20th. Suggestions for helping with the upcoming Harvest Fair included baking cookies together in the church kitchen to sell, planting small plants in the gravy boats left from the Tag Sale, and donating provisions for the Harvest luncheon. We will work on these projects at our next meeting. It was decided to give Mary Wheat $500 from May Mattoon funds to buy supplies for the Food Pantry. The Food Pantry clientele continues to grow, but the Western Mass. Food Bank has decided to cut back on their supplies. It will be a tough winter for many families.

The Power of Words

Pastor Joel had asked the Jahn family for some of Emily's poems to be read at our meeting and they graciously obliged. Emily's poems as read by Joel were lovely and thought provoking. A beautiful tribute to a most insightful lady.

So ended another meeting of May Mattoon. Our next meeting will be Tuesday, November 4th at 12 noon. Bring a sandwich, join us for lunch, and be ready to work on Craft Fair projects. Hostesses Ruth Campbell, Sara Adams, and Pam Garrett will provide dessert. Don't forget toilet articles for the Food Pantry distribution.

Until then – Happy Halloween and leaf raking!

Alice Gallup

Exploring Church Membership Sunday, November 2 at 11:30 a.m.

If you are new or relatively new to South Church and would like to know more about the mission and ministries of this congregation and the United Church of Christ, Rev. Joel, with help from the Diaconate, will host a gathering in the newly-refurbished library room.

We will also discuss what it means to be a church member and how it can help deepen and enrich your spiritual journey. Child care and lunch will be provided. Let Rev. Joel or Pam Garrett know if you plan to come. All are welcome.

MAY MATTOON BAKE SALE

May Mattoon will be having a table for baked goods at the Harvest Craft Fair as usual. We have added a cookie walk, where one can choose a baker's dozen, and will be attended by one of the ladies. Breads, cakes, pies, etc. will also be needed.

If you decide to bake cookies, please let us know beforehand. This will enable us to determine if we have enough for the cookie walk. I thank you all in advance.
